*Here is no ancient pile all stained and scarred
By centuries of rain and blasting storm,
Yet in the few short years since thou wast born,
No backward look thy spreading fame has marred,
Forth went thy sons when jealous races warred,
Died at Lutema, and 'mid Flanders' corn,
While Achi Baba grim and battle worn
O'er Milton graves eternally keeps guard.
Proud were the man whose noble name thou bear
Could he behold the inmates of your walls,
O'er half a continent thy summons calls
Fathers to place their sons in Milton's care,
Throughout this land thy cry rings loud and long,
"Oh, quit yourselves like men. Be strong, be strong!"*

Editorial

ANOTHER year of steady progress will go down in the annals of Milton School, though, at the time of this publication, the progress of two sections of our community has yet to be "weighed in the balance."

This issue of The Miltonian is especially distinguished in that for the first time the responsibility of publication has been placed solely on the members of the Junior Matriculation Form.

Thus The Miltonian has become a magazine of school activities published by the boys of the School, which is as it should be.

In view of this fact, we make apologies to all those readers who seek—and do not find—the "purple the hills and darkening valleys seemed to feel against me for stirring amongst them at this sacred hour.

A slight rustle ahead sounded and try as I could I failed to see anything, so I stole a few steps closer, held my rifle ready, and again listened. A slight grunting now arose and a scrape as if something was digging up the ground. It was a wild pig looking for roots to eat, so I waited patiently lest he might move on towards me. A twig snapped under my foot as I crouched down, and as quick as lightning the pig rushed into the undergrowth. He was making along the gulley, and in the clearing about 30 yards away I caught sight of him. I had a few seconds within which to act before he vanished forever among the dense growth, and I pressed steadily at the trigger. The smack of the shot roared amongst the rocks on the hillside and the pig toppled over dead.

That night I watched idly from my bed the great logs of the fire crackling, and with the ceasing of the natives' chattering—among whom I had become very popular for supplying them with so much fresh meat—the more distant sounds of the veld became audible. Now and again some nightbird called out. From a nearby vlei came the deep abrupt bark of a bushbuck. The incessant drone of insects formed a background to all these noises of the wild, and as I settled myself on my side to sleep a nest of birds awoke and made a great noise about something; they then subsided, leaving me to dream of the sable bull . . . and another day in the veld. R. D. HARRIS.

In Memoriam

THE School would like to express its very deep sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Page, of Shahani, on the death of their son Richard Grenville Page in January.

By his cheerful demeanour and his willingness to oblige he won for himself many firm friends, more especially in Pioneer House, in which he was a prefect.

It is a very tragic event when a life thus revered is cut off in the prime of its youth. The abundant good qualities which Grenville Page possessed would have undoubtedly matured and developed in later years.

Rugby Notes

THE 1st XV this year was moderately successful on the whole, as Plumtree was the only team able to defeat us. The team started off the season with a rather inexperienced pack which, as time went on, became quite useful. The second and third teams were rather disappointing, especially in the second matches against Plumtree, in which both teams went to pieces. The Under XV gave quite a good account of themselves and put up a fairly good show against Plumtree.

During the Rhodes and Founder's week-end the 1st XV went to Salisbury to play in the Inter-School tournament in which we were successful. The team played Prince Edward and Umtali. It is greatly hoped that this tournament will take place again next year, when we hope to play St. George's.

As far as general play is concerned, the School had in its earlier matches to rely more upon the threequarters. Later in the season, however, the forwards improved considerably, so that the team played together more. Perhaps the main reason for unsatisfactory play during the first half of the season was the lack of a good hooker.

During the season we were favoured with the assistance of Mr. J. H. Charsley and Mr. N. Longhurst, who were kind enough to coach the team from time to time. The team improved considerably by taking notice of their advice and tactics.

It was intended that during the last two weeks of the season Inter-House matches should be played, but owing to examinations they were cancelled.

During the season H. MacDonald was captain and C. Ralstein vice-captain. MacDonald, McLean, Dickson and K. Anderson were chosen to play for the Rhodesian team which toured the Union.

The 50th Plumtree Match

Played at B.A.C. Ground

Lost: 0—23

THE game opened in Plumtree's favour and within two minutes of the start Plumtree got a free kick over for "foot-up." Milton was continually forced back and most of the play took place in Milton's "25." Again and again our threequarters made vain attempts, but only died with the ball. At half-time the score was 12—0 in Plumtree's favour. After half-time Milton pressed well and looked like scoring many times, but Plumtree pushed us back to stay in our "25."

Prince Edward Match

Played at Salisbury

Won: 9—8

THIS was a scrappy match which resulted in a win for the school. In the first few minutes Widdows failed to score because of faulty touching down. If this try had been gained it would have been encouraging, and we should probably have won by a greater margin. MacDonald had bad luck when taking a drop kick to hit the referee on the head and failed to secure the extra points.

The 51st Plumtree Match

Played at Plumtree

Lost: 8—13

THIS was a very good game in which the pack played its very best, playing good rugby. It was only at half-time that Milton realized what they could do and forced Plumtree over their goal line many times. Plumtree's great asset in this game was the good kicking of the fullback who saved many situations.

Umtali Match

Played at Salisbury

Won: 18—0

THIS was a good game in which the threequarters played well, chiefly because they had a weaker line to mark. During the game there were many free kicks against us, but Umtali did not succeed in converting any. McLean kicked well for Milton and converted every try. The score was made up of three converted tries and one free kick.

The following were awarded colours for the 1936 season:—Hore, Miller, Widdows, McLean, McCay, King, Dickson, Davies, Cross, Davidson and Johnson. MacDonald and Anderson were awarded honour caps.

The Day When Everything Seems to go Wrong

To wake up fresh and bright in the morning is, in the normal course of events, a very pleasant beginning to the day; but when one wakes on a Friday, the 13th, with this feeling, let him beware, for it is liable to be somewhat damped, even for the greatest scoffer of superstition.

Well, I was one of those who disbelieve, or rather, pretend to disbelieve in superstition, till that fateful Friday the 13th arrived.

Early Friday morning, full of vim and vigour, I arose, intending to enjoy the luxury of a nice warm shower before breakfast. However, the water was freezing, so my first disappointment had arrived. Breakfast, if anything, was worse, for the toast was burnt, and the coffee cold, because the boy had to prepare breakfast instead of the cook, who for some reason or other was ill.

Undaunted, I decided to start the day afresh by arriving nice and early at school. Accordingly I set out straight after breakfast, pedalled blithely along the road full of contentment, but alas! it was short lived, for I arrived just in time for the first period, long after assembly.

So, having been fiercely lectured by the headmaster, I arrived at classes in time for the French master to pour forth his wrath on me for having interrupted his lesson by my unpunctuality. All day school, which used to pass so quickly, seemed like a was in flood and James's one fear was that if it rained the river may be in flood and they would be unable to cross. Mrs. Rodgers was a very anxious woman. She was expecting the boys at 6 o'clock and if they did not turn up he knew how she would worry. There was a streak of lightning followed by a clap of thunder, and then the rain came down in torrents.

James decided to make slow progress through the rain as far as the river. As he approached it he could hear it roaring as it rushed down. It was still raining hard when they reached the river bank. The boys' faces had changed from a cheerful look to a dismal and dull look. Disappointing, but not surprising, the river was in flood. It was thrilling to the boys, since they had never seen a river in flood before. A view from the car was perfect. The water ran down at a terrific speed, carrying with it odd pieces of sticks. Occasionally like waves on a seashore the water would flow over the side. The sun was setting and it was getting dark. The rain had ceased except for a slight drizzle. James declared that the night would have to be spent in sleeping in the car. From good to bad, from bad to worse, for it was getting cold. They settled themselves in the car comfortably and dozed off to sleep.

Morning dawned a bright and sunny day. It was quite late before James awoke. He did not realize his position at first but after a thought he recollected his memories. He woke Tom and Harold up and as the water had gone down considerably he decided to get home as soon as he could, remembering Mrs. Rodgers' worry. He managed to cross the river in safety and as he only had a few miles to go he put up a fast speed. Glad were the boys to arrive home. Sure enough, there was Mrs. Rodgers worrying her heart out. Her face also changed as she saw the car approaching. James retired to his quarters and the boys, after a hot tea, went to bed. Although the flooded river held them up, they still had a glorious holiday and they thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Cricket Notes

This year has been a very successful one under the able captaincy of J. MacDonald in the first term and J. Rawden in the last term, the latter starting cricket again after his illness. J. MacDonald left us at the end of the first term after a successful season's cricket, while his brother, H. MacDonald, was elected captain, but owing to the fact that he is sitting for a public examination at the end of the year he resigned his captaincy to J. Rawden. S. Atkinson, a very useful bat, left us during the last term to start work.

The places of Atkinson and MacDonald have been filled at different times by McLean, Anderson, Crook and Dickson. Mansell and Hore have been the outstanding bats of the season and it is pleasing to see the tail enders beginning to show promise. Morrison, a new spin Fowler, has been doing a fair amount of damage in some matches, while Mansell has not failed to maintain his bowling reputation.

"The Junior Colts" Cricket

THE Junior Colts is a new team, started for the first time this term. Our aim is to give better opportunity for boys under fourteen years of age to show their talent and keenness, and to obtain coaching and encouragement at an important age.

The team has played promising cricket and the fielding, as well as the rest of the game, has been keen. We hope our existence will have a helpful effect on cricket throughout the School in future seasons.

We have an attractive fixture list. The results of matches so far are—

26th September:

Technical School (Under 14).
(Home). Win, 7 wickets and 67 runs.

3rd October:

Milton Junior School. (Away).
Win, 29 runs.

10th October:

Coghlan (Home). Win, 56 runs.

17th October.

R.E.P.S. (Away). Win, 57 runs.

24th October:

Plumtree (Away). Lost, 95 runs.

We are pleased that two of our team, Hanssen and J. Davidson, have been admitted to the Colts. The rest of our regular team has been as follows:—Bell, Dunkley, Ericson, D. Grauff, Houghton, N. Marshall (captain), B. Murray, Norton, W. Smith, Stevens, Weedon.

J. M. B.

2nd XI Notes

THE 2nd XI this year has done as well as could be expected, and Keith Anderson in the first term, and Dickson, in the third term, acted splendidly as captains. Although both matches against Plumtree were lost, as usual, the team showed a keenness at the nets and practices which was encouraging, many of the younger players showing decided promise. Anderson, Leggo, Dickson and Crook gained regular places in the 1st XI and are to be congratulated. There are several promising players at the moment, especially Turner, Porter

His servant worked all day and night,
 With pick and shovel and spade.
 But the car remained in its sorry
 plight,
 And never a move it made.

The next day when the bell had rung,
 Out rushed the schoolboy shout;
 Then quickly on to the car they clung
 And heaved it out of the hole.

Now let a joyful bell be rung,
 For of sweet wine we'll sup.
 And let our praises now be sung—
 For the hole is now filled up.

Photographic Notes

DURING the year the Society has been quietly carrying on its work in almost utter darkness. There are a few active members but we should like to see more of the boys joining us and enjoying the pleasures of photography. The dark room is well equipped and, as there is no subscription, it is rather surprising there are so few members.

At the end of last year an Inter-School Photographic Competition was held which was won by Plumtree. The best photograph of the competition, which was judged by the Rhodesian Photographic Society, was "Native Music" sent in by F. Locke, of Plumtree, an excellent study of native life. In our own group the following were placed first:—

Animal Study—

"Cat," by R. Quicke.

Portrait—

"Native," by O. Dedman.

Landscape—

"Unitali," by F. G. Jackson.

It is hoped to organize another Inter-School competition in the near future.

As we are affiliated to the Rhodesia Photographic Society we are always welcomed to their meetings and outings, which have been attended by some of the members. More use should be made of this Society as there is always something to learn from their discussions.

Mr. Jackson brought back from England a Kodak 16 m.m. camera which he has used on many School occasions; it is hoped that a record of School activities will be available in the future. Graham and Palte have been the most active members of the Society, Graham being responsible for the photograph in the Scout Magazine. Will those boys who are keen photographers please see Mr. Jackson, who will make arrangements for them to use the dark room?

Annual General Meeting

THE Fifteenth Annual General Meeting was held at the Palace Hotel on 18th February, 1936, in the presence of some twenty members. Mr. Livingston was in the chair.

An important matter brought up for discussion was a proposal put forward by Mr. G. A. McKenzie, the past treasurer, that the annual subscription of country members be increased from 2s. 6d. to 5s.. He pointed out that country members were supplied with a magazine which costs 2s. and postage was paid thereon 2d. This left a margin of 4d. per country member to conduct the business of the association which he thought inadequate. The meeting
