*Here is no ancient pile all stained and scarred
By centuries of rain and blasting storm,
Yet in the few short years since thou wast born,
No backward look thy spreading fame has marred,
Forth went thy sons when jealous races warred,
Died at Lalema, and 'mid Flanders' corn,
While Achi Baba grim and battle worn
O'er Milton graves eternally keeps guard.
Proud were the man whose noble name you bear
Could he behold the inmates of your walls,
O'er half a continent thy summons calls
Fathers to place their sons in Milton's care,
Throughout this land thy cry rings loud and long,
"Oh, quit yourselves like men. Be strong, be strong!"*

Editorial

THE School has been following with keen interest the discussions arising from the Fox Report on education in Southern Rhodesia. We are very glad to know that next year a modern course will be introduced in the School to run parallel with the academic course.

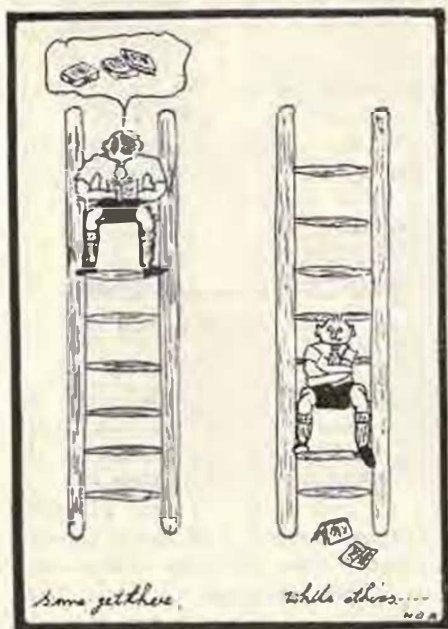

The successes in the examinations at the end of last year show that, on the academic side, the School has done even better than in previous years. In games, although not many signal successes have been gained, the School has shown its usual keenness.

The School is very much indebted to the Old Boys for the keen interest taken in the School and particularly one thrills and laughs of this fascinating ground.

The exhibits were looked at during the day amid the everlasting music broadcasted through hundreds of microphones to every part of the grounds. The great attractions during the stay were the various countries' houses and the Skating Rink. Everyone was satisfied with the stay and were quite sad to leave this wonderland where some good companionships were made. The party was congratulated on their good behaviour by Mr. Hathaway, who received a wonderful present to which everyone had contributed and three hearty cheers. Everybody returned to glowing descriptions of their stay in Jo'burg.

R. W. HOROBIN.

Rugby Notes

THE 1937 season was a fairly successful one, but many of the players were rather young and inexperienced; these younger members, however, show good promise and should be useful in next year's team. There was a tendency at the beginning of the season to leave too much to the "old hands," but more confidence was displayed among the new arrivals towards the climax of the season. The pack played quite well together, but as it was rather light, speed had to be concentrated on.

At the beginning of the season we lacked a suitable centre but eventually Dickson was taken from his position of loose forward to fill the position. This strengthened the threequarter line which contained Miller, Cowley and Widdows, who excelled himself in many of the matches. Johnson led the forwards, while Lewen played well in the pack, improving greatly during the season.

During the Rhodes' and Founder's week-end the Inter-School Tournament was played on the Raylton grounds. On the Saturday afternoon we met Prince Edward and on the Tuesday we played St. George's. This is the second tournament of its kind, having been a great success in both cases. It is hoped that it will take place again next year, when it will be played in Salisbury.

Mr. A. D. Campbell ably coached the team, but as he went to Europe with the Schoolboys' Tour he left us before the end of the season. At times during the season Messrs. N. Langhurst, J. Charsley, G. Burne, Coker and Shattil came up. We would like to thank them for their good and sound advice.

During the season Cowley was captain and Widdows was vice-captain. At the end of the season Lewen, Butcher, Mennel and Liebenberg were awarded colours. The following represented Matabeleland in the Under 19 team:—Widdows, Dickson and Lewen in the match against Midlands, and Lewen in the match against Mashonaland.

The 2nd XV played good rugby and against Plumtree in Bulawayo put up an excellent performance. The 3rd XV, however, was rather disappointing, perhaps because the players were young. Not many of the members of these teams will be leaving at the end of the year, so we have visions of quite a good 2nd and 3rd XV next season.

The 52nd Plumtree Match

Played at B.A.C.

Lost: 8—5

This was a very good game in which the team combined well. The pack played well, winning most of the scrums, and, although being light, held the Plumtree pack exceptionally well. The threequarters also played well, but good tackling on the part of the Plumtree line stemmed the attacks. Willmore was Plumtree's outstanding player, making many line breaks and movements during the game. Towards the end of the game Milton made a great effort to score, but without success.

Prince Edward Match

Played at Raylton

Won: 13—11

This was also a good match in which the team played well together. It was not really until the second half that Milton played their best rugby. At half-time Prince Edward's were leading, but Milton took the lead and held it to the end of the match. Again the pack was against a heavier scrum, which prevented them from winning many of the scrums.

St. Andrew's Match

Played at Milton

Lost: 19—10

A WEEK before the Rhodes' and Founder's week-end we played St. Andrew's College from Bloemfontein. The team put up a good show in a hard-fought game. Our threequarters played well, and Miller, with the combined efforts of Dickson and Widdows, scored both tries. The game was much more even than the score suggests.

The 53rd Plumtree Match

Played at Plumtree

Lost: 22—8

THE standard of the rugby in this match was not up to the usual standard shown by our boys in the previous matches. The pack did not play as well as in the first Plumtree match, not winning as many scrums. Willmore, the Plumtree centre, was responsible for most of their tries. Cowley scored our first try with the

The Zambesi

WITH an endless gliding motion we slipped over the unbroken surface of the water, gently lulled by the low chanting of the native paddlers.

Along the banks hung huge trees, bending their great trunks, covered in thick green foliage, as if to drink of the water. Here and there the rusty brown of the veld could be seen in the distant haze as there came an opening in this wonderful green wall. Now and then the opposite bank was obscured by the numerous islands covered with dense vegetation, making the vivid green contrast with the background of the sky so blue. On the sandy places of these islands reclined the wakeful crocodiles with their formidable jaws wide apart, disclosing rows of dull yellow teeth, at which small birds pecked as though unmindful of the treachery hidden within such revolting reptiles. The beauty of it all! Immense! I can but poorly describe the marvellous scene about me as the sun's glare on the water blinds me.

The water is travelling swifter, we can hear a dull roar—rapids! We see rocks on which are perched, like carved images, the "divers" who prey on the fish which abound in the running water. I see one on a distant rock with its wet wings widespread and its black body radiating a most beautiful velvet sheen.

The paddlers apply their paddles more vigorously, and their low chant becomes louder, gradually louder, rising as we reach the rapids and

Tropical Night

THE black canopy studded with its thousands upon thousands of sparkling gems fell all around—that typical clear blackness in which the trees stand out clearly. Suddenly a large golden moon rises and swiftly, as it ascends, loses its golden colour and its size for its bright silvery tint and its romantic roundness. The height of its celestial seat once attained, a silver grey cloud tints its edge and the little ball that has inspired millions seems to remain fixed, gazing upon beautiful country expanses and indifferent cities.

In the veld, men pass and rivers flow and animals slink and everything is quiet; but not the little creatures that hug the earth. Crickets send out their eternal plaintive shrieking, frogs croak with content, some men gaze and wonder and others sleep with savage content. And lo! the river meanders through countless valleys, among hills and over rolling plains, lapping and sighing its way, pleased with the world. As we wind our way over the surface of this eternal highway the dense river foliage harbours slinking animals. Trees of all kinds rear their proud heads, rustling in the cool wind, and the romantic palms wave their pretty fronds in condescending invitation. Far away a disturbed fish-eagle laments with an annoying howl, dogs bark and cocks crow.

Through the rustling leaves long shafts of moonlight bare the piebald veld and on the plain tall grasses wave their supple bodies and toss their ruffled heads in the breeze. All is at rest, even the animals of prey might forget their hunger when surrounded by the vast beauty of the night. But no, it is their usual cloak—it no longer stirs up romance within them. Meanwhile, Her Majesty The Moon glides on—and behind her a sycophantic cloud follows, adding a little touch of variety to the vast cloak of the moon, the clear African sky.

Cricket Notes

THIS year has been fairly successful for the 1st XI, which is captained by E. Hore. The loss of P. Mansell was felt very keenly during the first term especially. New bowlers had to be found who could do as much damage as he could. The team could no longer rely on two batsmen to make large scores—it had to depend more on itself. Moreover, the members were for the most part new, for only four of the 1936 team came back this year. D. Leggo, B. van Blerk and K. Anderson left us during the year, and so their places had to be filled.

J. Butcher and A. Dickson, who have just come back from a tour of Europe, are our opening bowlers. Widdows, an opening bowler from 1936 and vice-captain, now goes on when the ball is older. Norris, a new spin bowler, generally takes a fair number of wickets.

During the first term a bowling machine was purchased. Delay was caused by damage during transport, but eventually it was restored to working order. This machine enables the weak shots of the player to be practised.

This year colours were awarded to: A. Dickson, D. Leggo, D. Blackman, B. Armitage, C. Marshall; and caps were awarded to: P. Donovan, A. Eddington, A. Davies, J. Butcher, B. Norris, N. Thorn.

This year for the first time since 1932 Plumtree have beaten us twice in succession. Since that year it seems to have been the custom for the home team to win. In 1936 Plumtree beat us in March on their own field by an innings and 218 runs, but in November, when the match was played at Milton, the 1st XI beat them by three wickets. Plumtree won this year both in March and November—by an innings and 22 runs and then by four wickets.

The matches during the first term were a series of defeats. That against St. George's was drawn because of rain stopping the play: Milton, 45 all out; St. George's, 43 for one wicket. Prince Edward beat Milton by a very large score—179 runs. Later in the term the team was beaten at Chaplin on the first innings, and Technical managed to go off victorious by six runs.

The results during the last term—
The School versus:—

Queen's, 25th September:

The School, 120 for four wickets declared (E. Hore retired 70).

Queen's, 152 for three wickets (Fuller, 54; Mansell, 40).

Technical 1st XI, 9th October:

The School, 152 for two (E. Hore, 125 not out).

Technical, 155 all out (Taylor, 35 not out).

Chaplin 1st XI, 15th October:

Chaplin, 174 (J. Smith, 93 not out).

The School, 125 for three (Widdows 44 not out).

The match was drawn owing to Chaplin having to leave by half-past five.

Prince Edward 1st XI, 23rd Oct.:

Prince Edward School, 217 for six declared (Spence, 85).

The School, 81 all out (Widdows 21).

Very O.M.'s: "The side's not what it was when WE were in the XI!"

THE MILTONIAN

Combined Banks, 28th October:

Banks, 156 for seven declared
(Garner, 76).

The School, 102 for four (Hore, 68).

Plumtree 1st XI, 5th-6th November

The School, 1st innings, 113 all out (Hore, 50); 2nd innings,
140 all out (Hore, 66).

Plumtree, 1st innings, 163 all out
(FitzPatrick, 46); 2nd innings
99 for 6 (Wilson, 39 not out).

Milton was beaten by four wickets.

The 49th Milton-Plumtree Match

Is the match against Plumtree, played at Plumtree on the 3rd March, 1937,
the team lost by an innings and 22
runs.

A Night Scene at the Empire Exhibition

THE bewildering sense of unreality which I, a stranger, expressed as I was slowly borne through the blazing streets of the great city, became very sensible to me when I passed through the entrance of the vast Exhibition, and down one of the main thoroughfares.

done as well as and even better than in Germany. Owing again to lack of time he could not show us his numerous photographs and curios which he had collected.

7th November, 1937.—As nobody had a paper handy, Mr. Lloyd brought along some records of a speech on the Mandate System by Lord Lugard, the author of the book "The Dual Mandate." The talk was very interesting as it threw much light on the present problem connected with Germany and the mandates. He explained the origin of the system, its advantages and defects, and the question of returning any to Germany. We adjourned the meeting again owing to lack of time.

"So much to do. So little done," were the last words uttered by Cecil Rhodes, the founder of Rhodesia, and I think it was with these words in mind that the Committee set about their duties this last year.

The new Committee were full of hopes and very optimistic about increasing our membership and also about bringing together a large crowd of Old Boys at the functions held during the year.

The Old Boys have responded very well indeed to our plea for subscriptions, and I think we can safely say it has been a record year.

We look to all Old Miltonians to take an active share in the activities of the Association, and we hope that all Old Boys who are not already
